- Realism/Operational Relevance.
- Time Pressure.
- Specific Balance of Fun-Learning.
- Utilizing technology/resources available for training.
- Measurable output for evaluation.
- Effective De-brief.

Highly enjoyable exercises. However, the amount of learning may not be worth the time investment
(One-dimensional Games)

FUN

The degree of enjoyment a learner will get from the activity

Equal parts informative and enjoyable so as to cancel each other out.
(Every activity you've ever forgotten)

Challenging and engaging, but participants don't realize they had fun until its over
(The Polyglot Games)

High content, but no fun at all!
(Online PowerPoint Training)

LEARNING

The amount of knowledge/skill a person will develop –or- the amount of effort required to learn

- Operational Skills Test
- Accent Evaluator
- On-the-Spot Report
- Red Phone Scenario
- Cultural Advisor
- Site Exploitation
- Culture Shock!

- Designed by DLIFLC Curriculum Support Division.
- Exposes Competitors to an Operational Simulation.
- Given a Scenario with mission style audio and a series of tasks to complete:
  - Determine Facts
  - Translate and Analyze
  - Document Exploitation
  - Hand key & PIRs
  - Final Report for Commander PIRs
- Competitors will Process reports from mission-style audio and materials.

- Networked Pronunciation Feedback System (NetProF).
- Joint effort of DLIFLC-LTEA and MIT Lincoln Laboratory.
- 10 minutes, 100 words/phrases.
- Analyzes the accuracy of pronunciation compared to a native speaker.

- Simulates the pressure and demands of providing information to a commander or foreign national with no notice and very little time (60 seconds) to respond.
- Competitors will be asked a question and evaluated on the skill with which they respond in the foreign language as well as their general knowledge of the topic.
- Example Questions:
  - How has the high-rate of immigration created problems or social tension in France?
  - What is the impact of Huawei's alleged IP theft impact US-China trade talks?
  - Why did the Trump Admin cancel the Iran Nuclear Deal?
  - Why did the US not support the Russian annexation of Crimea in 2014?
  - How have past conflicts affected the Mexico-US relationship today?

- Situation: Donovanian forces have attacked the country of Gorgas, a NATO ally. The U.S. has intervened and seeks to negotiate a cease fire so that a resolution can be reached.
- Our competitors have been summoned to act as the interpreter during the negotiations/discussions.
- Topics to be addressed:
  - Military positions along the border and the role of the United Nations.
  - Available Courses of Action in response to the threat.
  - Status of American hostages in Donovia.
  - Support to criminal and terrorist organizations.
  - Humanitarian aid to those impacted by the conflict.

- Situation: You are supporting a command preparing to conduct a key leader engagement with a foreign diplomat.
- You must train your command on how to engage their foreign counterpart in a culturally authentic way in order to set the conditions for a productive discussion.
- You have 2 minutes.
- Measures Cultural Intelligence (CQ) by assessing: Drive, Knowledge, Strategy and Action

	KNOWLEDGE	STRATEGY
Individualism vs. Collectivism Arab - Collectivism	Emphasis on group goals and personal relationships	Use we instead of you/me/I
Power Distance Arab - High	Emphasis on differences in status; decisions made by superiors	Follow Chain of command carefully; do not question or challenge authority
Uncertainty Avoidance Arab - Moderate	Desires clarity and certainty but may not ask for it	Reiterate some ideas in natural and different ways to reinforce them.
Cooperative vs. Competitive Arab – Moderate	Relationships of trust are necessary for effective cooperation	Establish relationships/qualifications prior to focusing on getting work done.
Short vs. Long Term Arab – Short Term	Emphasis on immediate outcomes (Success now)	Achieve “quick wins”, focus on the present
Being vs. Doing Arab – Being	Emphasis on quality of life	Create opportunities for growth, affirm who the person “is”, manage relationships
Direct vs. Indirect Context Arab – High / Indirect	Emphasis on indirect communication (tone, context)	Discuss instructions and updates, speak indirectly, apologize for disruption of harmony
Universalism vs. Particularism Arab – Particularism	Unique standards based on relationships/situations	Use context and relationships to drive interactions and be flexible
Neutral vs. Affective Arab – Affective	Emphasis on expressive communication; sharing feelings openly	Open up to demonstrate warmth and trust, be more expressive than you might typically prefer
Monochronic vs. Polychronic Arab – Polychronic	Emphasis on multitasking; can combine work and personal lives	Find ways to be flexible on less important deadlines; communicate the relational impact for you if a deadline isn’t met.

- Situation: Your unit is pursuing a person of interest. They have located his last known location but need more information in order to effectively build pattern of life and close in.
- Our competitors have 15 minutes to help build a profile based on the contents of the room.
- A Language/Culture Escape Room
