

NLIT Summit 2020

National Laboratories Information Technology

October 13-16, 2020

P R O G R A M

NLIT Summit 2020

Keynote Speakers

Rocky Campione, CIO, DOE

Rocky Campione was selected in July 2019 to serve as Chief Information Officer (CIO) for the Department of Energy (DOE). In this position, he oversees the Department's information technology (IT) portfolio, serves as an advisor to the Deputy Secretary and Secretary, and leads and manages the various functions within the Office of the Chief Information Officer.

Mr. Campione has extensive experience with managing and implementing IT and cybersecurity solutions in executive roles across both the Federal Government, as well as in corporate leadership roles in the private sector.

Brian Abrahamson, CIO, PNNL

Brian Abrahamson is an Associate Laboratory Director & the Chief Information Officer for PNNL, leading a talented team of professionals that span Communications & Public Affairs, Information Technology, Research Computing and Cyber Security.

He is responsible for setting and implementing a cohesive strategy to amplify the visibility of PNNL's research - ensuring that all audiences, internal and external, understand the Lab's mission and how our science transforms the world. The convergence of Communications and Information Technology at PNNL recognizes that as the world moves increasingly online, the laboratory must be increasingly savvy in how we engage our stakeholders and audiences through digital channels.

Douglass East, CIO, LLNL

Doug East is the Laboratory's Chief Information Officer (CIO). Mr. East is responsible for the strategic direction, leadership, and management of all enterprise information technology (IT) activities, including business applications, unclassified networks and associated services, telecommunications, cyber security, customer service desk, and data center operations. As the Laboratory's CIO, Mr. East serves as a member of the Lab's senior management team.

Bob Hillier, CIO, INL

Mr. Robert Hillier serves as Idaho National Laboratory's chief information officer (CIO) and director of Information Management. Previously, he was INL's deputy chief information officer and chief technology officer.

Prior to joining INL in February 2016, Hillier was CIO for eight years at the Nevada National Security Site, where he served as chair of the DOE managing information technology for all domestic and international programs.

Stephen Warren, CIO, LANL

Stephen W. Warren is the Chief Information Officer (CIO) and Chief Data Officer at the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC).

In his role as CIO, Mr. Warren leads all OCC information technology (IT) programs, supporting the agency's mission of ensuring the safety and soundness of national banks as well as fair and equal access to financial services for all Americans. He became CIO in September 2015. As the Chief Data Officer, Mr. Warren is responsible for data governance and lifecycle data management in support of the OCC mission.

John Zepper, CIO, SNL

John Zepper has served as Sandia National Laboratories' Chief Information Officer, Director of Information Technology Services and Acting Associate Labs Director of Information Engineering since September 2020. Prior to that, he led Sandia's Space Mission Program and was Director of the Labs' Systems Mission Engineering.

During his 34-year career in the National Nuclear Science Administration community, John led Sandia's Cyber Security Services & Technologies Program, its Nuclear Weapons Classified Computing Service Improvement Program, and its Nuclear Weapons MESA Program core team. He also gained leadership experience in building Advance Simulation & Computing (ASC) supercomputers and in writing parallel code for the Nuclear Weapons ASC Engineering Program.

Jeff Atwood, Co-founder of Stack Overflow and Discourse

Jeff is a software developer, author, blogger, and entrepreneur. He writes the computer programming blog Coding Horror. He co-founded the question-and-answer model to subjects other than programming. Jeff is also the developer of Discourse, an open source internet discussion platform.

Centrify

Jim Drain
(202) 604-9206
james.drain@centrify.com
www.centrify.com

Centrify is enabling digital transformation at scale, modernizing how organizations secure privileged access across hybrid and multi-cloud environments by enforcing identity-centric Privileged Access Management (PAM) based on Zero Trust principles. In the context of PAM, Zero Trust requires establishing a root of trust, and then granting least privilege access based on verifying who is requesting access, the context of the request, as well as the risk of the access environment. By implementing identity-centric PAM, organizations minimize the attack surface, improve audit and compliance visibility, and reduce risk, complexity and costs for the modern, hybrid enterprise. Over half of the Fortune 100, the world's largest financial institutions, intelligence agencies, and critical infrastructure companies, all trust Centrify to stop the leading cause of breaches – privileged credential abuse.
